Ministry of Development of North Eastern Region (DoNER) has augmented the processes for pre-sanction approval, post-sanction implementation and to bring in transparency in NLCPR project management by extensive use of ICT and its features. This ministry has implemented internet based Project Management System (PMS) integrated with Dashboard, accessible at <https://nlcpr.mdoner.gov.in>, to keep track of various stages of project activities among stakeholders like Planning Department of north east State Government, Line Ministries of Government of India and this ministry. The Dashboard enables State Government to exchange requisite information with DoNER. Secondly, it also enables public at large to access information about NLCPR projects funded by DoNER as well as new projects submitted by respective north eastern states. One can also send visual input on ongoing NLCPR projects to ministry through hand held devices like smart phone, tablet, etc.

Highlights

Chief Minister of Nagaland calls on DoNER Minister

DoNER launches e-portal for Northeast projects

The Chief Minister of Nagaland, Shri T.R. Zeliang called on the Union Minister of State (Independent Charge) for Development of North Eastern Region (DoNER), MoS PMO, Personnel, Public Grievances, Pensions, Atomic Energy and Space, Dr. Jitendra Singh here today and discussed various issues related to the development of the State as well as the current political scenario in Nagaland. He expressed satisfaction that the DoNER Ministry has started taking up developmental projects on a fast track which has earned the Ministry all-round appreciation from all sections of society.

Earlier, as yet another major new initiative, Dr. Jitendra Singh launched a new hi-tech online e- Portal for submission, surveillance and follow up of development projects relating to Northeast falling under the category of Non-Lapsable Central Pool of Resource (NLCPR).

Speaking on the occasion Dr. Jitendra Singh said, he was glad to note that DoNER is one of the first Ministries to have opted for hi-tech method of submission of projects and their follow up. This has a special relevance for the DoNER Ministry because this is a region based Ministry and the projects are submitted by the eight different States of Northeast, he said and added that this will also avoid complaints regarding delays or extraneous considerations including corruption, etc.

Dr. Jitendra Singh said, DoNER Ministry is unique in the sense that it is the only Ministry in Government of India which is region based and has stakes with every other Ministry. To this extent, the new portal will also help in keeping track of various stages of project activities among different Departments/Ministries including Planning Department of North Eastern State Governments, Line Ministries of Government of India, etc. In order to overcome delays, the portal will be programmed to send automatic computerized reminders to the State Governments and others concerned, he informed.

There are sometimes allegations of misappropriation of funds, said Dr. Jitendra Singh, and added that the Portal launched by DoNER Ministry will also help in keeping surveillance on financial, physical and visual progress for timely completion of projects. This indeed is a major step to bring the people of Northeast closer to the governance of Northeast by the Government of India, he observed.

The Secretary, DoNER, Dr R.Vijaykumar, Secretary DoPT, Shri Sanjay Kothari, Economic Adviser

DoNER, Shri Brohmo Choudhury were also present on the occasion.

Minister of state for the development of the Northeastern Region (DoNER) Jitendra Singh

NEW DELHI : A newly-launched e-portal will help in the submission, surveillance and follow-up of developmental projects in the northeast, a minister said on Thursday.

Minister of state for the development of the Northeastern Region (DoNER) Jitendra Singh said the portal will help monitor projects falling under the ministry's Non-lapsable Central Pool of Resources (NLCPR).

His comments came when Nagaland chief minister T.R. Zeliang called on him, according to an official statement.

Singh said the portal has special relevance for the DoNER ministry as it is a region-based ministry and projects are submitted by the eight states of the northeast.

The portal, he said, will also help avoid complaints regarding delays or extraneous considerations like corruption.

Stating that his ministry has stakes in all other ministries of the central government, the DoNER minister said that the new portal will help in keeping track of various stages of project activities among different departments and ministries and the planning departments of the northeastern state governments.

In order to overcome delays, the portal will be programmed to send automatic computerised reminders to the state governments and others concerned, Singh told Zeliang.

According to Singh, the portal will help in the surveillance of financial, physical and visual progress for timely completion of projects.

Singh and Zeliang also discussed various other issues related to the development of Nagaland as well as the current political scenario in the state.

New DoNER portal to prevent fund leakage

NEW DELHI, Sept 17 - In the face of allegations of massive leakage of Central funds in the Northeast, the Centre has in a major initiative launched a new hi-tech online 'e-portal' for submission, surveillance and follow-up of development projects relating to Northeast under the Non-Lapsable Central Pool of Resource (NLCPR).

DoNER Minister Dr Jitendra Singh said his Ministry is one of the first Central ministries to have opted for a hi-tech method of submission of projects and their follow-up. He said that this will also avoid complaints regarding delays or extraneous considerations, including corruption.

There are allegations of misappropriation of funds, said Dr Singh, and added that the portal launched by DoNER Ministry will also help surveillance on financial, physical and visual progress for timely completion of projects.

The previous UPA regime had admitted about siphoning of Central funds, including NLCPR. In three years, the Central Vigilance Commission (CVC) has found irregularities in three of the five cases of alleged corruption. However, the extent of leakage could not be determined. According to the CVC, they have dealt with a total of five cases of alleged corruption, pertaining to the Ministry of DoNER during 2007-2009, added the Minister.

This has a special relevance for the DoNER Ministry because this is a region-based Ministry and the projects are submitted by the eight different States of the region.

Dr Singh said, the DoNER Ministry is unique in the sense that it is the only Ministry in Government of India which is region-based and has stakes with other ministries. To this extent, the new portal will also help in keeping track of various stages of project activities among different ministries, including Planning Department of northeastern State Governments and the line ministries of the Government of India. In order to overcome delays, the portal will be programmed to send automatic computerised reminders to the State Governments and others concerned, he informed.

Meanwhile, Nagaland Chief Minister TR Zeliang called on Dr Singh here today and discussed various issues related to the development of the State, as well as the current political scenario in Nagaland.
